1 Log In

From initial start-up of the application the user is prompted to either log into an existing account or sign up an account. If the user has an existing log in, their username and password should be entered and the log in button pressed on completion. If the user is new to this application, the sign up button should be pressed and the application will move to a sign up page. On this page all prompted information must be filled to complete the sign up process. If a singular or multiple information box is left empty, the application will reject the user and default to an unsuccessful page.

2 View Mode

Following the log in page, the user is default placed on the view mode page. This page is designed to easily view the current projects that have available positions. A scroll feature is used to enable scrolling through the current projects brief banners. Each banner contains the brief information that outlines the core details of the project. A banner can be clicked which will present a page outlining the projects full list of details. At the bottom of this page an "Apply to this project" button allows the users to demonstrate interest in this project. The button will automatically send the project facilitator an email with prompting the facilitator to communicate with the potential project member. A three tab bottom navigation bar is always present past the log in page, this page is used to navigate between pages.

3 Make Project

To navigate to this page the "Make" tab must be pressed, this will show the make project form page. The user is required to complete all fields to successfully create a project. Upon completion a success or failure screen is given. If the project contains illegal or inappropriate material the system will recognise this is reject the application.

4 Account

Accessing the accounts page requires the user to press the accounts tab on the bottom navigation panel. The accounts page shows the users personal details, current projects and followers. An edit button is available in the top right hand corner of the page, this button will enable the user to edit personal details. In addition, if the user is a project facilitator, projects can be edited and deleted by clicking on the project banner.
